LEGAL CITATIONS

Speaker: Judith Maier, Attorney at Law

Proper citation formatting conveys the information needed to quickly find a cited case in the law library. It is critical in briefs submitted to the Court, because Judges readily equate improper citation format with laziness, sloppiness, or both. Join us via Zoom video conference on November 18, 2021, to learn about legal citations. Judith Maier maintains a private law practice devoted to advising small businesses. She teaches in the post-graduate Paralegal Certificate Program at the University of Washington in the areas of legal research and writing, law office technology, business law, international contracting, and presents workshops to legal groups on those topics. Previously, she taught first and second year legal writing and research at Seattle University School of Law and served as law clerk at the Court of Appeals, Division II. She holds an MBA from Pacific Lutheran University, and a Juris Doctorate, cum laude, from University of Puget Sound School of Law. In her spare time she is a garment sewist, harpist, and owns and captains her own yacht.
